

BEST START EDUCATION

A spotlight on an inspiring young artist.

Meet Miron, one of the wonderful students we look after as guardians. He is a boarder at Bedford School. During the past few years, we have been watching how his creativity developed. He tried music lessons and then discovered the enchanting world of art.

He found solace in sketching, painting, and bringing his imagination to life on paper. He finds joy in the creative process.

His family, his school and we, as guardians, encourage Miron to pursue his passion. The school's art department is very supportive and helps him try different techniques, like clay modelling and print making.

Miron developed various artistic skills, and during this year's school exhibition, he decided to share his achievements and display his work.

Miron's participation in the school exhibition was not just a personal triumph; it was a reminder to all of us that a boarding school is a place where talents can flourish and dreams can take shape.

We are proud of Miron's achievements and look forward to watching his artistic journey continue to unfold and inspire us all in the years to come.
